

Weather satellites

- This is a GOES-R Series weather satellite. GOES stands for Geostationary Operational Environmental Satellites.
- From 22,000 miles above Earth, these satellites can see amazing detail in Earth's weather. They can tell the difference between clouds, snow, smoke, smog and ash.
- GOES-R Series satellites are great at watching forming storms and can help meteorologists warn us about thunderstorms, tornadoes, hurricanes and floods.

Learn more about the GOES-R Series weather satellites here:

<https://scijinks.gov/goes-r>

scijinks.gov